IV. Writing Question B

Nowadays teenagers grow faster than they ~~a~~ before, so they become separate confident ~~can~~ in their opinions and decision earlier. Some parent thinks that teenagers' influence on family decision-making should be greater because teenagers are important part of the family. On the other hand some parents think that they don't need to deal with teenagers opinions because they are too young and their opinions can be based on emotions and ~~internal~~ external factors.

According to my opinion parents should put their teenagers opinions into consideration and pay attention on their thoughts while decision-making challenges. It's really important not to ignore teenagers opinions and let them ^{strongly} significantly influence on family decision-making. I think it is so important because ignoring teenagers opinions in childhood can affect ~~for~~ their further lives, it affects leads to the lack of confidence and independence in the future. ~~The~~ Teenagers grown in such strict conditions won't be able to make their own decisions in the future and will often depend on others point of view. But there is another side of the view parent ^{should be} ~~would be~~ careful ~~and~~ give their teenagers too much freedom and importance in family decision making because ~~it~~ ~~that~~ ~~the~~ child may ~~stated~~ may become thinking that they are the main parts of the world and their behaviour will may become really selfish.

In conclusion I would say that it's important to ^{let} ~~the~~ teenagers ~~part~~ influence on family decisions making but their significant opinions should be under control of parents. Following to my experience parents very rarely include me in their decisions making and it causes a lack of self-controlence but it will lead to harmful changes in my behaviour.
